

Supported by

Partition: The Long Shadow - Closing Events

Date: 21 August 2008

Venue: India Habitat Centre, New Delhi

Partition: The Long Shadow'- a series of dialogues and lectures, organized jointly by the Zubaan Books, India Habitat Centre and Max Muller Bhavan, has been running since August of 2007. Comprising of a series of lectures on hitherto unexplored aspects of Partition, the programme has sought to take the debate on the long legacies of Partition forward, and to look at how the three countries, India, Pakistan And Bangladesh, have been impacted by this. The Programme will feature.

Partition Dastans by Anusha Rizvi, Danish Husain and Mahmood Farooqui,

Building upon previous Dastangoi presentations on partition, the performers focus on the experiences of Indian Muslims to bring alive untold stories: of those who wished to return but could not, those who wanted to stay but were forced out, those who belong not to maps or boundaries but to South Asia as a whole.

Partition Poetry Brief readings by poets and writers,

Songs of Connectivity Madan Gopal Singh and Musicians.